BECEPTIONS.

We are authorized to announce that the ladies of the Executive Mansion, Mrs. Patterson and Mrs. Stover, will be home on Monday evenings. The evening has been fixed in lieu of the after-noon receptions, as they were last season.

SPUAKER COLFAC'S last weekly receptions for he season will be Priday evenings. March 20th and 37th. Mrs. and Miss Matthews' closing (1970) reception will be on Wednesday, Warch 23th.

LIGHT AND REPAIRS.

The refusal of the House of Representatives to appropriate money for repairing and lighting Pennsylvania avenue is an set that we find it difficult to fathom. Unless it mean that Congress has determined to make a larger appropriation and do what is needed, namely, to repaye this thoroughfare in a manner suitable to the demands and necessities of the case, we cannot comprehend its action in the premiers. Especiality is it a pursle to understand why movey is refused to light this public highway. A member of Congress who probably knows or ought to know the reason for arising out the $20,000 informs us that it is the opinion of the members of that body that the property-holders on the Avenue engit to be taxed to effect the necessary reviews out to any for lighting this street.

Navy Department.

From a letter received at the Bureau of Mediciae and Surgery, Navy Department, from Montevideo, from the chief surgeon South Atlantie Squadron, dated January 25, 1808, we have the information that five of the vessels of the equation condition of the other and men of the flow was good. The cholera was prevalent on shore among the inhabitants to a considerable extent, and the type of the disease very had. The number of persons stracked was not very great, but shoot invariably fatal to those taken. There was as yet no cases among the squadron.

From the surgeon of the United States steamer Monagaliela, which vessel is yet lying high and dry at St. Cruix, West Indies, we have information dated February 29, 1809. The surgeon informs the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery that the yellow tever which had broken out on board

About the time the disease broke out on board the ship the Daniah truops located in the fort, but a short distance from the vessel, were also attacked. The fort and the vessel both lay on the edge of a fresh water morans, which since the indius of the sea on the lath of November last had become extremely offensive. The inen sick on board (nineteen) were subsequently removed from the vessel to a house on high ground on the edge of the town, since which time the disease was abating, there being but two new cases.

There were four deaths from the epidemist Leighton M. Ford, ensign; John Hills, paymater's steward; Fred, E. Kocher and John Schutz, marines. Three other cases were expected to terminate fatally.

The High Court Vectorday.
About the usual number of persons were attracted to the Senate chamber yesterday to witness the proceedings of the High Court in the impresentment trial.

The replication to the answer of the President from the minagers, on the part of the House, is brief. It was read by dry houtwell, and will be found in our todigressional proceedings.

The main question considered by the Court was the request of Mr. Johnson's counsel for the postponement of the trial for a limited time. After a consultation in the marthe room for about two hours, the Court decided to allow the days, and the trial, therefore, is set down to ays, and the trial, therefore, is set down

Commencing no farther east than the Capitol gate, and observing either side of the Avenue, as far as the Circle, we have all the way long a constant reminder that the National Government has something to do with this broad and splendid street. From First to Third streets, on the south side, lie the Botanis Gardens. Then again, from the center of Seventh to Ninth street there is no private property on either side; from Thirdenth to Fourteenth street, there are public squares on either side. So, again, from Firstenth to Fourteenth street, and from Sixteenth, on the south side, there is no private property. Here is located the Treasury building, the President's Mansion, and Lafayette square.

All these reservations, grounds, and public buildings belong to the General Government, and not to individuals. Is it fair then to tax the citizens to light this avenue and to keep it in order! It would seem hardly necessary to ask this question. To assess such a tax upon the property-holders of Washington is tantamount to a proposition to tax the citizens to kight end for the condition of the corter.

Proceedings of the Canadian Conventions
Offawa, March 24.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. Mills inquired if any demand had been made on the United States Government for property destroyed by the Fenians during the raid of June 18, 1866. Sir John A. McDonald said there was no correspondence between this Government and the Imperial Government asking for compensation from the Government of the United States for loss of property and other injuries, including loss of life occurring through Fenian raids.

They had to remember that the Government of the United States had their own difficulties, and, perhaps, they exercised their power, with reference to these hostile organizations as strongly as they could with due regard to ultimate results. He had no hesitation in saying the Canadian Government had implicit belief in the goof faith of the United States. When It's learner apparent that these parties were about to came apparent that these parties were about to proceed from words to action, the United State Covernment, at a large expense, sent a large force, commanded by their best officers, for the purpose of upholding the majesty of their own laws and preventing any infringement on our laws and preventing any infringement on our frontiers.

Considering, also, that the United States has cause of irritation on account of the Alabama and other vessels that were fitted out in England, and that this was a matter of angry discussion, it was not desirable to add fuel to the flame by sending our demand for compensation. It should be remembered that there were incursions which we could not prevent from Canada to the United States, like the St. Albans raid and the proceedings on Lake Erie.

United States, like the St. Albans raid and the proceedings on Lake Erie.

The government of Canada would see that full claim would be put in through her Majesty's fovernment to be considered in the sentiment in cross accounts between the two nations.

Mr. Mills made a demand for the correspondence with reference to the rendition of the leader of the Fenian incursion. Sir John McDonald replied that no demand had been made for the rendition of those who had excaped back. The Government thought the law had been sufficiently vindicated by dealing with those who had been captured with arms in their hands.
